Thank you for having me here today. Fort Seward is going to spend the 2025 season finishing up a few projects we have been working on since last season.

The first project we would like to finish is cleaning up the dead trees. Last season we cleaned up the old horse pasture and started clearing the bushes by the parking lot. Once we tear up the roots, it will be done, and we will have also created room for 4 primitive tent spots. Triple C has quoted us $3,000.00 to grind up all the stumps and tripping hazards.

We also realized that the Historic Camping needed a few adjustments, so we will be moving the units by the garage. This will make the spots closer to the playground and bathrooms, as well as give them access to water and electricity in case they need a fan on the hotter evenings. We also would like to purchase 1 larger tent, as we realize we have missed quite a few bookings with larger families. The new tent we have picked will allow up to 8 people plus a pack and play. We have budgeted to replace two of the smaller tents that have worn out.

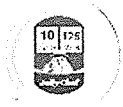

We have found a few interesting ways to engage with the guests we see following the “Custer Trail”, and have been working on two new exhibits tying individuals that spent time at Fort Seward and went on to the “Battle of the Little Bighorn”, namely the surgeon who was killed in the battle and one of the officers of Fort Seward that was chosen to inform Libbie Custer and the other wives that their husbands had died in battle. We also have been extremely blessed with many new items for both the inside and tent city from members of the Frontier Army of the Dakota we would like to display. We will need to build a few new stands and exhibits.

I would like to thank you guys for supporting Fort Seward over the years. It has been a pleasure sharing my personal love for the site over the last 6 seasons, and I am excited for what the new board of directors does in the future. I know we are leaving the site in capable hands will be do great things.

EENA WALL TENTS

We originally built these tents to meet the needs of Oregon elk hunters where severe weather and heavy snow loads are encountered.

All EENA tents are made of heavy-duty 10 oz. per square yard breathable, 100% cotton "EENA Cloth", with a Marine finish made to our specs. This makes it extremely water repellent and mildew resistant. It is pre-shrunk and tightly woven for good heat retention and has high strength to weight ratio. This is by far the best material for the money that we have found in our over forty years of making tents, and we have no intentions of changing.

Available in colored light marine green or white which ever you prefer. Heavy duty 7' nylon zippers at each end. Spur grommets used throughout. Properly reinforced at all points of strain, with no problem-causing fluff or nonsense to add cost. Like all wall tents, "EENA's" are best pitched with an A-frame of locally cut poles, however, pole sets are listed elsewhere in this catalog.

As all EENA tents are made only to order, please allow us plenty of time to make one for you.

SCREEN FRONTS

Here in the Northwest, bugs aren't really much of a problem. However, a Florida customer who regularly camps in the everglades seems to disagree. We designed these screen fronts for him. They are made of poly no-see-um screen with nylon zippers, and attach to your frame with nylon tie tapes and webbing loops in the corners. They tie out of the way when not being used or stay at home if they're not needed.
