And based on the way things are trending, how likely do you think it is that your workplace(s) will be able to safely re-open for in-person teaching in the fall?

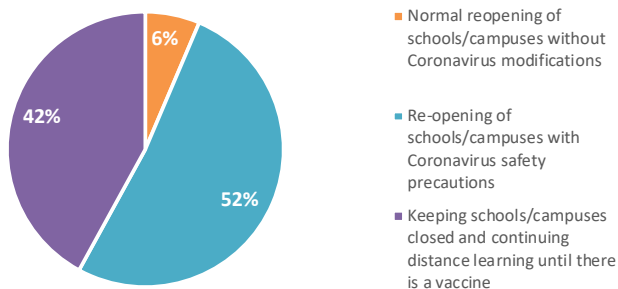

Based on current trends and what you know of your district plan, do you think you personally will be ready to return to work in-person in the fall?

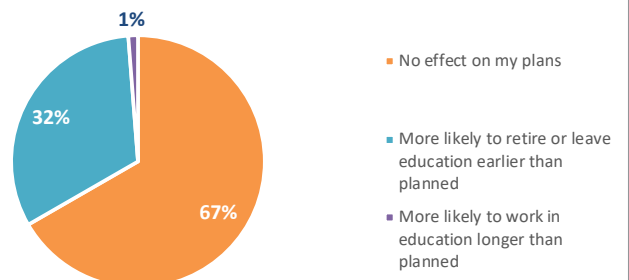

Why do you feel that you will not be ready to return to work in-person in the fall?

Thinking about where things will be in the fall, which of the following do you support?

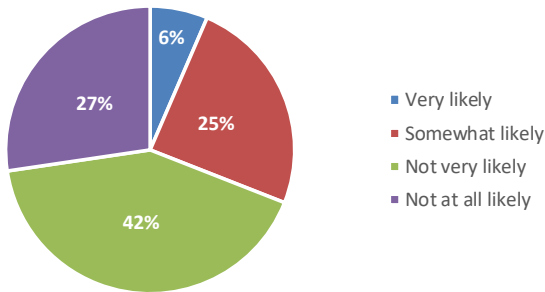

Has the COVID-19 pandemic made you more likely to retire or leave education earlier than you'd planned, more likely to work longer than you'd planned, or made no difference in your plans?
