

Donate Blood

In memory of Brenda Riggins

Brenda Riggins was affectionately called Granny Brenda; lovingly she put others before herself. When diagnosed with cancer her initial concern was that she'd no longer be able to donate blood with the American Red Cross. Throughout her life she donated gallons of lifesaving blood and encouraged others to do the same. By hosting this drive, her loved ones will keep Brenda's adoring memory alive, while helping hospital patients in critical need.
