

From politics to pop culture, moderate liberal Chris Hahn approaches every topic from an unapologetically progressive viewpoint. Hahn is a regular contributor on Fox News and is widely known as the most recognizable progressive on the channel. Since last summer, he has been a regular guest on "NewsNation."

The New York-based consultant and attorney first honed his political chops working as a senior aide to Rep. Chuck Schumer (D-NY). His experience in helping shape public policy and craft legislation around important topics like the environment have given him unique insights into "how the sausage is made." Hahn's expertise - along with his take-no-prisoners style - have made him an in-demand pundit on numerous cable news shows.
