

Today's Q106 Snow Excuse Note

_____ is excused from work today due to bad road conditions. Said employee will not be in, instead will stay home and cook bacon in a tank top, then come to regret that, they will then sit on the couch and watch judge shows and commercials for class action lawsuits against catheter distributors, which, honestly is no treat.

Today's Q106 understands you have work to get done and losing an employee for the day might hinder production, but that employee wasn't planning on getting much done today besides a game of Words With Friends and stalking an exes facebook page, so it's not like a lot was getting done anyways
